

Special Food Sale

All The Year Round

When you go to a dry goods or clothing sale you make your selections and take them home. You are satisfied that you have secured a bargain.

But you would do some tall complaining if we were to make a "special sale" price on foodstuffs today and then boost them tomorrow.

Therefore, in order that you may not complain, we make EVERY DAY A SALE DAY, and at SPECIAL SALE PRICES.

Our foodstuffs are marked down so low that we could not reduce them without a loss. That constitutes an "All the Year Round Sale."

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCEMENT

The announcement of the engagement and approaching marriage of Mr. Joel M. Barnes and Miss Ruth Enzema Nowlin was made public last Friday afternoon at a rook party given by Mrs. G. A. Nowlin. A unique spelling contest was held and the announcement was revealed in this manner. Refreshments were served and a color scheme of pink and white was carried out. The arrival of the groom late in the afternoon brought forth happy congratulations from the parties assembled.

Prof. Barnes is principal of the White County High School and Miss Nowlin is one of Sparta's most popular young ladies. The News extends congratulations.—Sparta News.

The foregoing announcement will be read with great interest here, as Cookeville is Mr. Barnes home. He is one of our most popular young men, and now that congratulations are in order, he will doubtless receive them in showers and deluges.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Alcorn announce the engagement of their daughter, Will, to Mr. William Fred Luke of Watertown, the marriage to take place the latter part of June.

TENNESSEE WOMAN'S PRESS AND AUTHORS' CLUB CONVENTION

The members of the Tennessee Woman's Press and Authors' Club are called to meet in annual convention at Nashville, June 8, 9, and 10. The Nashville Woman's Press and Authors' Club will be the hostess club and a large attendance of members from over the state will attend. The convention call was issued by Mrs. Charles Baker, president and Miss Mary C. Stahlman, Secretary, Nashville.

The Cookeville members of the Tennessee Woman's Press and Authors' Club are Mrs. Rutledge Smith, Mrs. John Epperson and Miss Gertrude Whitney. Mrs. Epperson is treasurer of the club and Mrs. Smith chairman of committee to care for the club house at Bloomington Springs, and both have been presidents of the Club. They will attend the annual convention in Nashville.

A BRIDGE PARTY

Mrs. Rutledge Smith gave a pretty planned bridge party on Monday, complimentary to her house guest, Mrs. Griffin Smith of Paragould, Arkansas. There were twelve guests who enjoyed the game, and others who joined them for refreshments. Mrs. W. A. Howard won the highest score prize and an attractive gift was given the honoree. Following the game most delicious refreshments were served, an interesting feature was the cutting of a wedding cake, which was a gift from Mrs. S. S. Neal, to the hostess.

Mrs. Frank Ensor and children, and Mrs. Grover Davis, of Knoxville, have been the recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Dow.

Mrs. Ed Myer and Mrs. John Aust of Nashville have been the house guests of Mrs. Rutledge Smith, coming especially for Mrs. Smith's reception on Saturday evening.

IN MOVIE LAND

For life is a moving picture. As the shifting scenes go by. Filled with humor and with pathos. With a laugh and then a sigh.

The Progressive Teacher for April gives an interesting article on the Ford Educational Library, the film library that is to be produced by the Ford Motion Picture Laboratory very soon. This film library will provide for public and private schools and colleges of every nation in the civilized world films for class room work to be used in the way that will make them of greatest value to the students. In doing this Henry Ford is bestowing a definite and valuable help to the teachers in presenting their work to the students in an impressive way, for what the eyes, especially the eyes of youth, see, is stamped on the brain indelibly.

Heretofore it has been impossible for teachers to procure the proper films for this work, but in September of this year the first issue of this library will be available to a very school in the United States. The subjects will be especially prepared for use in any classroom, by experts in each special line of work, and will be distributed under a plan that will make it possible for the small schools as well as the large to present these films. This library will also offer an opportunity for professors of every college and university to produce their own work for the constantly increasing demand for expert school room work.

CHARLIE CHAPLIN AND THE KID

When Charlie Chaplin wrote and staged the Kid, he wrought his masterpiece, and in its presentation when he makes himself secondary to the very attractive child actor, he is more attractive himself than in anything he has ever starred in. The genuine devotion depicted between himself and this wonderful child touches the heart of the audience to tears, and while it is a comedy yet it is filled with pathos, and all the time the laughter of the audience is very near to tears. The child actor is really a wonder and he is certainly Charlie Chaplin's under-study, for he already imitates him in little ways. While we know that it is all acting, yet all the while we are impressed with the genuine devotion between the famous man and this little boy, and in bringing out this feature of tender love the play may be marked a great play and its author and chief actors, truly great artists. If you have not seen this play be sure to give yourself this treat when it appears in Cookeville. We are fortunate indeed in having The Kid in Cookeville, as it ranks with the highest class of plays of the present by Life, The Christian Herald, and the leading magazines.

Miss Matalene Barnes has had as her guest Miss Elmira Mace, of Lebanon.
